Chapter 2 Elements, Compounds, and Chemical Reactions

Multiple Choice

Section 2.1

1. How many atoms are there in one formula unit of $\text{NiSO}_4 \cdot 7\text{H}_2\text{O}$?

- a. 9
- b. 14
- c. 27
- d. 28
- e. 33

Section 2.1

2. Which one of the statements below is true?

- a. When two atoms combine, they do so in definite proportions by weight
- b. When two different compounds combine to form an element, they do so in definite proportions by weight
- c. When two different elements combine to form a compound, they do so in definite proportions by weight
- d. When two molecules combine, they do so in definite proportions by weight
- e. When two different elements combine to form a mixture, they do so in definite proportions by weight

Section 2.1

3. The relative number of atoms of each element in a particular compound

- a. is always 1:1
- b. is the same as the density ratio
- c. is the same as the weight ratio
- d. is definite and constant
- e. cannot be determined experimentally

Section 2.2

4. A naturally occurring element consists of three isotopes. The data on the isotopes:

isotope #1: 46.972 u, 69.473%
 isotope #2: 48.961 u, 21.667%
 isotope #3: 49.954 u, 8.8610%

What is the average atomic weight of this naturally occurring element?

- a. 47.667 u
- b. 47.699 u
- c. 48.629 u
- d. 48.667 u
- e. 48.961 u

Which of the following researchers did not coin the phrase "Leaders are people who do the right thing; managers are people who do things right"? Select all that apply.

- 1. a. Kotter (1996)
- 2. c. McCull (1998)
- 3. b. Stogdill (1948) - Owen
- 4. d. Bennis and Nanus (2003)

Which of the following are considered to be the three major classifications of leadership theories? Select all that apply.

- 1. a. behavioral
- 2. c. motivational - Owen
- 3. b. contingency
- 4. d. contemporary

Five basic emotional and social competencies have been associated with emotional intelligence. Which of the following are some of these competencies? Select all that apply.

- 1. a. self-awareness
- 2. c. motivation - Owen
- 3. b. self-regulation
- 4. d. self-actualization

Nursing is transforming into the information age. Trends that are occurring with this transformation are termed which of the following? Select all that apply.

- 1. a. mobility
- 2. c. user-driven practices
- 3. b. virtuality - Owen
- 4. d. application of technology

According to Luster (1999), motivation

- 1. a. is unconsciously demonstrated by people
- 2. b. occurs externally to influence behavior
- 3. c. is determined by the choices of others
- 4. d. occurs internally to influence behavior

Luster (1999) noted that there are content motivation theories and process motivation theories. Which of the following is considered a process motivation theory?

- 1. a. equity theory
- 2. b. hierarchy of needs theory
- 3. c. expectancy-reward/expectancy growth theory
- 4. d. hygiene maintenance and motivation factors

The theory that includes maintenance and motivation factors is:

- 1. a. Maslow's hierarchy of needs
- 2. c. Schlegel's theory X and theory Y
- 3. b. Herzberg's two-factor theory
- 4. d. Ouch's theory Z

Leadership that is based upon occupying a position in an organization is called

- 1. a. informal leadership
- 2. c. leadership
- 3. b. formal leadership
- 4. d. management

Bennis and Nanus (2003) identified fundamental qualities that effective leaders share. These three qualities are:

- 1. a. vision, passion, and integrity
- 2. b. knowledge of self, honesty, and maturity
- 3. c. intelligence, self-confidence, and determination
